GREAT DAIRY POOL PROPOSED IN ONTARIO

OTTAWA—With the object of planning the formation of what they hope will grow ultimately into great dairy pools, including in its members most of the farmers in many Ontario counties, two hundred farmers of Russell County, Ontario, met at the Court House at Leonard Village and entered with a spirit of keen enthusiasm into a thorough discussion on the advisability of forming a co-operative selling agency along the lines of the Western Canada wheat pools, through which they would be able to dispose of their dairy produce at a reasonable profit.

Marshall Bethwell, of Napan, and Reeve of Cumberland Township, was in the chair. The meeting was the largest held in Russell County since the last political campaign and numerous speakers were heard, all of whom were heartily in accord with the movement to establish a dairy pool.

Have Not Improved Selling "Under the present system of selling you cannot expect to receive better results," said Mr. Bethwell, "You have been improving your herds, but have not been paying sufficient attention to your methods of selling your produce. You have been producing better milk for the manufacture of butter and cheese, but you have not made any effort to get a price really to compensate yourself for your labor."

"Another reason why we should or ought to be that dairies in Eastern Canada have been amalgamating, and you have milk combines instead of dairies, and these combines will secure a position that will mean that the combines can say what milk you are going to produce, and what price you will get for it. You, as farm owners, must look after your own business. No one else will do it for you."

Mr. Gardner, M.P., Lesau, of the Progressive party, in the House of Commons, said he had farmed for twenty-six years, yet had never owned a cow.

The problem of the farmer is to organize a dairy or wheat pool, he said.

Mr. Gardner gave a lengthy outline of the organization of the wheat pools in the West, and told of the many obstacles which had to be overcome before the pools came into being.

STRATHMORE VS. HUSSAR BASEBALL MATCH SUNDAY

Eddie Crollin earned a place in the Strathmore Hall of Fame from his performance on Sunday, when he collected two home runs in the game against Hussar. The first came in the first innings with two down and one man on base, Eddie smashed out a beauty to score the man on base and make the circuit himself. The next one came along about the fifth or sixth innings with two men away and one on base, Eddie collected his second home-run of the day. Looks like as though Eddie was going to catch the matter by scoring sufficient runs to equal that earned by Hussar. Eddie's pitching was good for the first game of the season, Hussar's catcher also collected a homer with a man on base, so that the going was pretty good for both teams.

The play, for the opening game of the season, was good. In spots one could notice the lack of sufficient practice as the boys on both sides were inclined to boot the ball a little too much. The local boys had the breaks in most of the play, which accounts in some degree for the ultimate score of 11 to 4.

Hussar's pitcher weakened about the middle of the game and traded places with the first baseman. The relief pitcher was a southpaw and had the boys swinging at the tin air for an inning or two.

We are glad to note the addition of some new faces to the Strathmore lineup, and are glad to hear that they are all local products, with one exception.

We hope to have more baseball this year than we had last year, and that the attendance will continue to be good throughout the season. The boys need the support of the community and certainly give value for the admission charged.

The minimum penalty under the criminal code is seven days in jail and the convicting magistrate has no option in going under the minimum or suspending sentence. Both men were observed at the wheel at different times during the evening.

PYTHIAN MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD AT STANDARD

The first annual memorial service held at Standard on Sunday under the auspices of Pioneer Lodge No. 21, Knights of Pythias, was attended by the local members of the Order and their friends in large numbers, together with a strong delegation from Calgary, and members from Glendon, Nanaimo, Drumheller, Wayne and Medicine Hat.

The Castle Hall not being large enough to accommodate those expected to attend, arrangements had been made for the use of the S. & S. Hall, and this proved none too large for the large number in attendance. Local arrangements were capably handled by Deputy Grand Chancellor F. D. Knowlton, with the assistance of the local lodge officers, Messrs J. P. Madson, F. Messenger, Frank Knapp, M. Rasmussen, Leo Larsen, C. Anderson, P. Svendsen, E. Rasmussen and T. C. Dahl.

The Calgary members officiating at the service included Supreme Representative W. C. Black, Grand Vice-Chancellor H. T. Williams, R. at Chas. Sellers, Walter D. MacLean, E. L. Tucker, J. P. Woolley and F. D. Mead, Knights John C. Reid, J. Gordon Ryan, James Couper and Sidney Richardson.

The Rev. H. D. Marr, of Calgary, delivered an inspiring address, particularly suitable to the occasion. The Rev. H. A. Barton, of Standard, also took part in the service. The musical portion of the proceedings included an anthem by the Standard choir, vocal solo by Mrs. E. A. Wagner, and a cornet solo by Brother De Forest, of Drumheller.

Wage Case Heard At Strathmore

The whole of Tuesday was taken up adjudicating on claims for wages by Magistrates Lambert and Haddon. The claims were at the instance of Henry Allison, farmer south of town, and his sons, Earlard and Carl. The Allison claimed wages from Hans McDonald, a farmer in this district.

The claim which took up the bulk of the time of the court was that of Henry Allison. His claim for cutting grain and repairing the engine, an International 10-20 Titan, at $5.00 a day was allowed. He claimed $10.00 a day for running the engine, and evidence was led by the defence with a view to cutting down his price. Evidence was given by Wm. Evender who in 1926 he paid $8.00 a day for running a larger engine, a 20-48 Rummely, and stated that a man running a small gasoline engine, should receive no higher wages than a man pitching bundles, from $5.00 or $6.00 a day.

After considerable discussion, the wages for running the machine were cut down by the Magistrate to $7.00 a day. The claims of Allison's sons were also reduced, and the costs were split between the parties. Judgment was given for a total of $156.00 in wages. Counsel for plaintiff, T. M. Weara, Barrister, Strathmore; for defence, J. J. Taylor, Barrister, Calgary.

IMMIGRATION QUOTA POLICY SUGGESTED FOR CANADA

MAY SUCCEED FATHER Gordon Sloan, son of the late Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines for British Columbia, who will contest the seat vacated by his father at Nanaimo. He has been practicing law in Vancouver.

OTTAWA, Ont.—We want more men to organize our operations and take advantage of our opportunities," declared Sir Joseph Flavelle, Toronto, this morning before the agricultural committee of the House investigating immigration. All safeguards and procedure should be representative of the determination of the character of those who should enter Canada.

Government responsibility as opposed to a commission and cooperation were essential for a successful immigration policy. "There should be no feeling of party advantage in the matter. It is a national problem," he continued, Sir Joseph's testimony was very brief.

In the opinion of Canon Vernon, general secretary, Social Service Council, Church of England, advocated a conference to promote preferential British immigration to the Dominion, and the adoption of a quota policy. Extension of the 3,000 family settlement, establishment of a permanent immigration committee and a voluntary advisory council were further suggested by Canon Vernon.

In the opinion of Canon Vernon, a conference between the Dominion and provincial governments would be productive of good results. A larger conference include representatives of the Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian, United Churches, Y.M.C.A. and the British Immigration and Colonization society would be preferable.

"Visitors from the United States who come to our Dominion are lost in their warnings that the adoption of the country with immigrants who will produce the puzzling problem with which they are confronted," declared Canon Vernon, in advocating a quota policy for Canada. "Some schemes should be adopted to increase the inflow of settlers from the British Isles and temporarily to arrest the flow from other parts. Too large an influx of Continental immigrants endangered the normal standard of living, labor and wages to the mutual disadvantage of our foreign-born newcomers and our own citizens."

"We must have a really attractive land policy if we are to get British farmers and farm laborers even in limited numbers," Canon Vernon said. He believed the 3,000-family settlement scheme, should be greatly extended. An essential need was a careful and independent soil survey of all farms and all vacant lands to be offered to settlers.

Establishment of a permanent non-political commission on immigration, with wide powers and an outstanding commissioner, was further urged by Canon Vernon. The setting up of a voluntary advisory council on immigration representing the Dominion and provincial governments, the transportation bureau for the Department of Justice, T. M. Weara, barrister, Strathmore; for the defendant, L. E. Ormond, Barrister, Calgary.

NO EVIDENCE WAS GIVEN FOR THE DEFENCE. After hearing the evidence the Justices found the charge proven, and fined the defendant $10.00 and costs, according to the report issued by Justice, T. M. Weara, barrister, Strathmore; for the defendant, L. E. Ormond, Barrister, Calgary.

GREAT FLOOD OF GRAIN GOING VIA VANCOUVER VANCOUVER, B. C.—During the week ending April 19, 2,569,037 bushels of grain were loaded into vessels, making the total for the month 6,172,567 bushels, and total exports for the current crop 62,568,585 bushels, according to the report issued by the board of harbor commissioners. There are seven vessels in port to load an additional 1,522,500 bushels, while stock in elevators totals 4,141,000 bushels, with 2,622,200 in railway terminals on the British Columbia division.

SETTLERS WILL BE INSTRUCTED REAR RED DEER OTTAWA—The Dominion government has rented the Indian industrial school near Red Deer to Rev. B. A. Macdonald as a trust for the Scottish Immigrant Aid society at a rental of one dollar per year, for a period of five years commencing this month. It comprises 1,210 acres of land to be used as a depot and training centre for immigrants from Great Britain. The lease has agreed to pay all taxes, rates and assessments.

FOURTH SET OF TWINS BORN TO THIS FAMILY

PETERBORO—Four sets of twins, all under 16 and three under 4 years old, is the contribution to the population of Peterboro made by an Italian couple, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Decario. The fourth set, a boy and a girl, was born this week and brought the total number of children up to sixteen, ten of whom are living. Mother and

SPORT NOTES

FIRST IN CANADA

For the first time in Canadian racing, Starter James Donovan will employ a new starting gate when the second of the spring meetings at Calgary is opened at the new mile course of the Chinook Jockey Club, June 2. This meeting will be preceded by one of seven days at Victoria Park, Calgary, but as this track does not contain any chutes, the new stall barrier will not be used. However, it will be employed at Chinook Park and also at the two Winnipeg meetings which will be held at Polo Park and Whittier Park following the 14 days of spring racing at Calgary. This new arrangement for despatching unruly horses and correcting their bad post manners was first used at the Tijuana, Mexico, track last winter. It was worked out by Marshall Cassidy, the Tijuana starter, and so well did it bring about perfect starts that it soon became the talk of all turfdom. Many tracks throughout the country will employ it this summer.

The simplicity of this stall gate gives it instant recommendation from the fans and horsemen alike. It is merely a number of railing stalls built in the chute. When lining up at the barrier, the horses are led into the stalls. It not only keeps them in perfect alignment, but it prevents them from kicking or stepping on horses in front of them. The width between the stalls is about 24 in., there being a railing to separate them just extending from the rear to the front post. The stalls are about 15 feet deep.

Mr. and Mrs. Decario come to this country from Italy about fifteen years ago. Their oldest child is a son aged about 18, who is working. The second also a boy, is 13. One set of twins was born some time ago and the second set was born here three years ago, and the fourth has just arrived on the scene. The last two sets have consisted of a boy and a girl each. Believers in the influence of heredity in this connection will be disappointed to know that there have been no sets of twins on either side of the family for at least two generations back. This is a record that will make Fred Hazen Dunn envious.

CONNIE MACK MAKING

"BIG PUSH FOR PENNANT"

NEW YORK—Connie Mack, lean leader of the Philadelphia Athletics, is ready to make it a last ditch fight to beat out the New York Yankees for the American League pennant this coming season. In what is generally believed by the wise baseball boys to be his last year as the active leader of the club, Connie is fortifying his outfit for the "big push" he hopes will put the notation right on the flagpole in Shibe park.

Like any other manager Connie is loath to declare his White Elephants "in", but from his talk one gathers that he has new big chumps in store. Plenty of Heavy Hitters With Club. Pitching is sometimes said to be 60 per cent of a team's power and it is in this department where the Athletics should be strong. But the team also stacks up well on the offensive.

"If things work out, there should be a 200 hitter at every position, with several on the bench," says Connie. With Cobb, Speaker and Simmons in the line, and evenness alike, it is hitting outfields in the game. In the reserve he has "Bevo" LeBourveau, "Big" Miller, Walter P. French, Miller Huggins, George Hase and Charles Bates. French and Miller have the best chance of sticking.

Infield Strengthened

The infield has been strengthened by the return of Joe Hauser, whose knee seems to be as good as ever. Max Bishop will be at second base and Joe Boley at short. Third base goes to Sammie Hale with Jimmy Dykes, one of the greatest utility men in the game, ready to fit in any place. Eddie Collins is on the active play, or list, but Mack does not expect him to work every day.

The team fairly bristles in potential pitching strength. Mack figures Rhinie should do much better this year. Lefty Grove is counted on to be the big threat again, while Homel, Walberg and Quinn should be working in regular order if Mack's hope is correct.

Lots of Fight. Ossie Orvell and Claude Jonnard are two expensive additions, purchased from the Milwaukee club.

Other fingers who have impressed are Russell Johnson, Bob Potter, Lloyd Powers, William Shore, and Lee Whitehorn.

No rookie catcher in the world would have a chance to get in where Gehanne, Perkins and Fox hold sway. Jimmy Fox, who is fast and a good hitter and who would be a regular on any other club in the league, must sit on the bench at Philadelphia.

If the Athletics can't beat out New York this year, it will not be on account of lack of "fight." Pellos like Cobb, Speaker and Collins are noted for this quality, and will not let the younger men cut up when the going is rough. That is one of the main reasons why Connie has them on his team.

TOMMY WHITE, Promoter

BOXING BOUT AT MEMORIAL HALL

Tommy White was in town on Monday, accompanied by Mr. Bill Huston, who has presented several bouts for competition among the boxers, one of which Mel Cowie will defend in his contest with Young Gore in a ten round bout at the Memorial Hall on Saturday night, May 12.

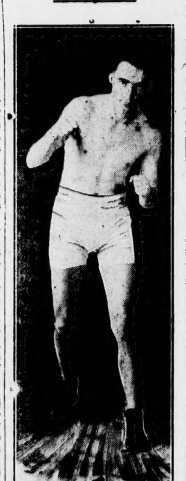

Mel Cowie is in fine condition and will give a splendid exhibition is amply proved by his work in Vancouver last Saturday, when he went out of his class and met Kizack, of Drumheller, weighing 149 pounds, and got the decision.

Probably for real action the contest between Bob Canuck and Nels Ferguson may turn out the real thriller. Each of these boys have been winners in the amateur contests and have just turned pro.

At Vulcan they pack won their opening professional bouts, and they meet in Strathmore for the first time. Tommy White is very emphatic in his statements that if the winner of this bout has good luck, that he will go a long way up the professional ladder.

Mike Moran and Herb Ellis, the local boys, have been doing steady training, and so impressed White with their work-outs, that he is putting them on for a six round contest.

In addition there will be several other preliminary bouts, so that the local fans and Calgary boys are sure of having a good evening's sport.

Firestone Tread is Scientifically Designed

When Firestone engineers were developing the Ballroom Tire they found it necessary to design a tread altogether different from that required by High Pressure Tires.

The Firestone tread was not designed with large, massive projections for appearance or to make plausible sales argument. On the contrary, the projections of the cross-and-slope tread are small and the wider strips narrow, permitting the tread to yield to irregularities and cling to the road, giving the greatest, non-skid surface. This tough, pliable tread has the wear-resisting qualities that give thousands of extra miles of service and save you money.

Your nearest Firestone Dealer will gladly supply your needs and give you the better service that goes with these better tires.

SCHOOL COUNCIL

The School Library has recently received a welcome accession of books. Some books dealing with Elementary Science topics were donated by Mrs. Stockton, and the Calgary Herald presented two books to the school for being the winner in one of the District Inter-Schools. The Province has divided for the International Oratorical Contest. We wish to thank those donors for their much appreciated gifts.

The School Library contains over 1,500 volumes. These, while primarily for the use of the pupils and staff, may be borrowed by others. During the month of April there was an enrolment of 191 pupils. The average attendance was 171.69, and the percentage 87.7. Ninety-eight pupils were present every day. The High School baseball team will play Glenora High School at Glenora on Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock. The Glenora basketball team will play Strathmore in Strathmore on Friday, May 11th.

BOSTON.—Prospective developments in invention which would add to the conveniences of living even more than have the revolutionary advances of the past were described by Roger W. Babson, business statistician, in a talk before the Boston Chamber of Commerce. Development of cold light to replace the present electric lighting which is 35 per cent wasteful, and 5 per cent light is a study upon which serious and promising work is being done, he said, meaning 20 times as much light for the same cost. Possibilities of radium for industrial purposes were stressed by Mr. Babson. He predicted rubber streets, rubber walls, unbreakable glass, called attention to flexible glass, and a known possibility, and spoke of alloys that would make metals non-corrosive and a chemical process that would prevent wood from rotting. Legislation will some day be passed forbidding the private furnace in the home, central heating plant by gas will eventually be the rule in every big city in the world; coal-burn, cars and the wagons will some day be a thing of the past, he said. The 40-passenger bus now being experimented with is the forerunner of great strides to be made in bus transportation, he said. Inter-urban roads developed for motorcoaches will have their own right of way eventually. The airplane is yet in the experiment stage. The helicopter by which airplanes will successfully rise vertically, is sure to come, eliminating landing fields and causing the "birth of the airplane business overnight." He predicted airplanes flying in service, so that if one became disabled, the other would automatically carry it along.

Sequences of power were outlined by Mr. Babson, as follows: tidal movements, heat from the interior of the earth, revolutions of the earth and the sun's heat. None has been perfected but all are being studied and one day some inventor will find a way, he said, to utilize the tremendous power and heat of nature.

age of three, Freddie Riger, Seattle youngster, has become the subject of much speculation among doctors. The boy's mother explained that when Freddie was five weeks and under-developed and refused to eat until he chewed on a pipe. That was when he was ten months old. Then he began to eat. He cut his teeth on the same pipe. When he was a year old he began to chew cigars and shortly after that to puff on them. Efforts to make him quit tobacco have resulted in his mooping out. Aside from smoking—he has one cigar every night—he is a normal and healthy child. He will be four next month.

PRACTISING BAD DIETETIC HABITS

Health and Diet Advice

It has been said that a dollar saved is a dollar earned. There is no doubt but that most people literally throw away good money every day by practicing bad dietetic habits. Two or three times as much food is used by the body by any means can convert into normal tissue. This is of course a direct loss, greater than if the excess of food were thrown into the garbage can, as the body is consequently weakened by the unnecessary effort made in attempting to digest more food than needed. Excretion is the natural result, with a loss of time and energy from the body. You live on one-third of what you eat, and the doctors and undertaker live on the other two-thirds.

The daily cost of food used by the average person is sometimes between two and five dollars, and of course a great deal more than this by those who give "feasting" parties once or twice weekly. If only the essential foods are used, the actual daily cost should not exceed one dollar for the child or adult. This diet would include, eggs, meat, fruit, and all of the vital vegetables. For example, a breakfast of two eggs, toast and stewed fruit would not cost over twenty-five cents at the most at the present prices. For luncheon, a meal of wholewheat bread, with a choice of such condiments as spinach, string beans, asparagus, carrots, turnips, beets, parsnips, summer squash, chard, etc., would be satisfying and thoroughly nourishing. Add to this a salad of the leafy vegetables. You would not eat over twenty-five cents' worth of these vegetables if you tried to, as they are very "filling," but equally vital.

At dinner, if you use the same kind of vegetable, and one-fourth of a pound of beef or fish, you will have a dinner which, if prepared properly, is fit for a king!

These meals do not include pastries, candies, puddings and cakes, lobster, shellfish, or unwholesome and expensive food which is often as indigestible as it is costly.

If you have been spending two to five dollars daily for your food, you may have been spending two to five times too much. You could buy something you need each day for the money you waste. You could buy a good book daily with the money thus saved, and even though you never suffer from "mental" indigestion in trying to do so.

If you have been suffering from any chronic illness, a fast from all food for a week or two would add a tiny sum to your bank account. In France, a doctor recently proposed that all Frenchmen should fast one day a week and thus be able to pay off the national debt and restore the franc, which seems to have fallen below all help. He suggested fasting all food stores, restaurants, and cafes one day each week. But his advice did not strike a happy response from his comrades, who were so willing to march to the trenches for France, but unwilling to fast for the franc when it would mean so much for the future of their beloved country.

You to whom this writing may come, can help yourselves both financially and physically if you eat less and fast more, and as an addition to your new rules for health—march more!

BAINTREE

The regular meeting of the Baintree P.W.U. was held at the home of Mrs. P. Baintree, on May 7th. Nine answered to the roll call. Mrs. H. Godfrey and Miss McKendall were visitors for the afternoon. After the ordinary routine of the meeting, the business of the day was discussed. The program for the year was presented and approved. The president announced that Mrs. Field, 2nd Vice-president of the P.W.U. for Alberta, will speak at Baintree on Thursday, May 10th. Mrs. H. Godfrey kindly offered her home for the occasion. Mrs. Field will speak there on Health and Child Welfare. All farm women and others interested are cordially invited to meet Mrs. Field and hear her speak. Mrs. W. Bell gave a short talk on the care and feeding of young chicks. It was very interesting, and all can only regret that the time was so too short, but we hope to hear Mrs. Bell again on the same subject and others, in the near future. After adjournment, the ladies did ample justice to the excellent lunch provided. The Local will meet with Mrs. Godfrey on Thursday, May 10th.

WEDDING

HATT - BAILEY

On Saturday afternoon, in the presence of a large congregation, St. Paul's United Church at Trochu, Alberta, was the scene of a very picturesque ceremony when Miss Alice Hatt, of Aldrie, was united in marriage to Thomas, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bailey, of Trochu.

The wedding group motored from the house of the groom's mother to the church, and on arrival there they proceeded up the aisle, to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. R. H. Slipp, and were met by the Pastor, the Rev. F. J. Hartley, who united the happy couple.

The bride was exquisitely dressed in Coral Georgette trimmed with Peach, with picture hat to match, and also wore golden slippers. She carried a charming bouquet of roses and carnations. Miss Frances Patmore, Calgary, the bridesmaid, was prettily attired in Peach Taff with picture hat to match, and carried a beautiful bouquet of tulips and lilies.

Mr. Vernon Hatt, of Rockford, brother of the bride, gave his sister away, and Mr. James Bailey, of Trochu, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

After signing the church register, Dr. J. P. Snyder motored the wedding group to the home of the groom's mother, where a reception was held for the intimate friends of the family, and the bride, with a silver knife, cut the first piece of a handsome three-tier wedding cake.

Later on in the evening the happy couple motored to Calgary, where a honeymoon will be spent. The going-away costume of the bride was a creation of Twoline, Blue with hat to match, and a favor box was sent.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bailey, who are making their future home at Aldrie, were the recipients of many useful and valuable presents, and they carry with them the very best wishes of the community for their future welfare and happiness.

ROCKFORD

Mr. E. C. Robinson, who is employed at Mr. J. J. Dahn's, met with a very painful accident last Friday afternoon while out driving, when his horses ran away. He was badly cut up around the head and shoulders. Dr. Hewson attended.

Whatever else you may forget, you must remember that on May 11th, the Rockford Branch of the Canadian Legion are holding a dance in the Rockford Hall to which you are all invited. The "Jolly Boys" orchestra has been engaged, and nothing but your attendance is required to make this the best ever.

Mr. H. D. R. Simpson, Post Office Inspector, was in Rockford on Friday, checking over the local post office.

The continued favorable weather has greatly assisted the farmers in their seedling operations in the district, and already some of the earliest sown wheat is up 2 to 3 inches, and another fine week will see the 19th wheat crop seeded under most promising conditions. There is plenty of moisture in the subsoil to insure germination, and all that is now needed is a nice rain to give it a good start.

DEATH OF MRS. ELLEN CULLEN

On Tuesday, May 2nd, at 12:55 p.m. the death occurred of Mrs. Ellen Cullen, of Rockford, in the Drumheller Hospital, in her 58th year.

Mrs. Cullen had been ailing for some considerable time, and although the end was not unexpected, it came as a shock to those who were with her during the painful period of her illness.

The funeral service, most beautiful in its simplicity, was conducted in St. Agathe's by the Rev. Lawrence Noble, at 10 o'clock on Friday.

Numerous floral tributes were a testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held in the neighborhood, by all who knew her.

Mrs. Cullen was a native of Ashford, Kent, England, and came to the Rockford district sixteen years ago. She is survived by four sons, Henry, George, William and Edward, and two daughters, Mrs. Young, of Vancouver and Birtley, who is now nursing at the Drumheller hospital.

The family wish to take this opportunity of thanking all those who showed such kindness and sympathy to them in their sad bereavement.

BRITISH EXPERTS REVIEW MARKETS FOR CANADIANS

WINNIPEG—The Canadian farmers in touring the United Kingdom visited the London Chamber of Commerce. Following is an abstract from the report of the meeting and discussion which took place on the possibilities of increasing the trade of Canada in Britain, as reported in the Chamber of Commerce Journal.

Mr. James V. Rank, chairman of Joseph Rank, Ltd., four millers, in discussing the wheat trade, stated that the position was that "with all its outstanding qualities Canadian wheat was still subject to the competition of the rest of the world's harvests," and for this reason when the price of Canadian wheat reached a price relatively above its normal value in comparison with other wheat available, the hard acres of economics compelled the British miller often to use wheats in his wheat mixture that were of lower price. Since the reduction in the supplies of Russian wheat during the past few years, the Canadian farmer had enjoyed a somewhat preferential position by reason of later Russian wheat would not be received with and that quality alone would be an absolute essential for Canada to maintain her lead and receive high prices for her wheat against the Russian supply.

In this connection, Mr. Rank emphasized the necessity of Canada keeping up the quality of her Manitoba wheats which were equalled in excellence by many of the Russian varieties. Such has not been the case, he maintained. In the North American wheat had lately contained admixture of soft or durum wheats which would be most injurious to the Canadian farmer if continued. During the last two years also British millers had taken deliveries of certain Canadian wheat which had its quality reduced in drying and considerable difficulty had been experienced in respect of the flour. The conditioning of wheat by drying was an operation which required knowledge and skill and judging by the refusal of the parcels to which he referred neither of these factors had been present. Millers, he thought, should be informed of any processing wheat had received.

In response to a question, Mr. Rank stated that the millers liked to see the wheat and buy it at its value rather than on a certificate, though the certificates might be a very good one.

In regard to Canadian bacon, Mr. A. Sheeh stated that last year only 7 per cent of the total British imports were from Canada, compared with 12 per cent in 1926 and 20 per cent in 1919. Canadian bacon was good bacon, he said, and provided very well, and the Canadian packer had nothing to learn from the continent. The continuity of supply was a very important factor. On the other hand, Danish bacon was uniformly good quality and cure and also uniform in price. Danish hilled approximated 87,000 hogs weekly compared with Canada's 11,000 and 90 per cent of Danish hogs killed made Whitepine salt which would range from 46 to 70 pounds and the bulk of them would be a lean selection. Denmark was also favored by its nearness to the English market so that a user of Danish bacon knew practically to the day of the week when he would get his supplies. Another factor was that all large buyers of bacon had to buy the Danish product in order to get the quantity they required, and further they had to place weekly standing orders which very naturally gave Danish bacon the premier position. Possibly the best of the retailers in Britain used the same bacon every week, and when they found the bacon that suited them they always wanted it.

What Canadians should do, he concluded, was to make up their minds to put 20,000 or 30,000 hogs weekly into export Whitepine bacon, double that quantity the following year and then increase her output until she held the position that was now held by Denmark.

Mr. James Gillanders dealt with the position in butter and cheese and stressed the importance of uniformity, both in quality and coloring in butter, and advised that in shipping butter from the various districts and creameries that it should be kept separate. Canadian make had been so short that in 1927 only 800 boxes or 20 tons had reached Britain. Continuity of supply was an important factor in holding any markets. Canadian cheese on the English market was in diminishing supply having dropped from 70,000 tons to about 28,000 tons, while New Zealand had increased accordingly. He thought it a great mistake that the Canadian supply had not been kept up. The grading system had helped considerably, but the most others it was a little below perfection. Canadian cheese had held a very high position in the United Kingdom market for many years and the quality could not be improved much further. He was sorry to see the supply so diminish and stated that New Zealand was determined to strengthen her present position still further.

Mr. Jamper, in dealing with the poultry question, stated that the quality of poultry produced by Canada was exceptionally good but the quality was very small, and the birds too heavy. The demand in England was for a small bird, and he suggested that if Canada were going to cater to the English market she should produce small-boned birds of quality flesh weighing from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds. The chief source of supply at the present time outside of the domestic and Irish Free State supply was United States and Russia.

WANAMAKER ESTATE
WORTH $50,000.00

PHILADELPHIA—The estate of the late Rodman Wanamaker, head of the Wanamaker stores in Philadelphia and New York, it is said, will be placed in the hands of a Board of Trustees of three persons, who will work in conjunction with a board of advisors. The estate is believed to be valued at about $50,000,000. The will, which is being prepared for probate, is said to create a vast trust for the benefit of relatives and business associates. The business of the Wanamaker stores, it is authoritatively stated, will be placed under the present management exactly as it was before Mr. Wanamaker died.

GERMAN LOAN LINKED TO ARMY RECESSES

CHICAGO—"Very encouraging approval" has been accorded the general idea of the plan to liquidate the war debts of the world through a $5,000,000,000 world loan to Germany, and to accompany the settlement with a 62-year agreement to outlaw war between the nations involved and others wishing to participate in the peace pact, according to Salmon O. Levinson, Chicago attorney and author of the plan.

Mr. Levinson previously came into international prominence as the author of the proposal to outlaw war. He said that "most unusual commendations" of the proposal had been offered that representatives of four important European governments have indicated a serious interest in it, and that the plan had been offered for printing in the Congressional Record by William E. Borah (R), United States Senator from Idaho, and is favored by Thomas J. Walsh (D), United States Senator from Montana.

Representatives of Germany have told Mr. Levinson that they highly approve the idea, he revealed.

The proposal calls for a $5,000,000,000 world loan to Germany at 5 1/2 per cent per year, which a sinking fund of 1 1/2 per cent per annum would pay off the entire principal in 25 years, its author explained.

Germany would then pay off the loan of the Dawes plan reparations loan with $200,000,000, leaving $5,800,000,000. The next step would be to get a reasonable compromise on cash payments to the United States of the "present worth" of the war debts, which would furnish immediate and substantial relief to American taxpayers, who are bearing the whole brunt of the American cost of the war. This was estimated at $1,000,000,000.

Then there should be repaid the United States $250,000,000 for the cost of the American Army of Occupation during 1919 and 1920. The balance of $3,550,000,000 would be used for stabilization of currencies, for equitable adjustments with European nations having special claims to German reparations and for the necessary cost of the loan.

Another purpose of this loan, Mr. Levinson continued, would be to have the German reparations fixed at a definite amount and paid, the amount to be financed by a world consortium of bankers in cooperation with the governments involved, so that they may pay adequate reparations and also be able to work out the economic rehabilitation of her people.

"With war recommenced for 42 years, all obstacles to drastic disarmament must be removed, and the economic consequences of Europe would ensue by leaps and bounds," he said.

"There is no good reason why the present generation in the United States should stand all the burden of our participation in the war. The proposed plan offers immediate and partial relief to present taxpayers and, even so, will accelerate by many years the day when our national war debt will entirely be paid off."

HEARD ON THE STREET

Bill Tierney: "Do you pay much for coal?"

Micky Torrence: "No, we live near Bob Hambl's mine, and get a low rate."

"Did you see that pretty girl smile at me?" remarked Herb Ellis to Mike Moran at a dance here recently. "Oh, that's nothing," his chum replied, "the first time I saw you I burst out laughing."

Finnal Slam: "Bridge, bridge, bridge," cried Mr. Auction Maniac to his wife. "You'll kill yourself playing bridge." "Then, Auction darling," replied Mrs. Maniac, "you must be sure to bury me with simple honors."

"Doris is getting a man's wages." "Yes, I know she was married."

He: "Fred's got some gin outside, and—"

She: "I'm off gin. It dissolves my lipsick."

Oranziel: "Is anything wrong sir?"

Pastor: "Yes, I'm afraid so. I shall have, in future, to regard one of the deacons with great suspicion. Just now in the refreshment room I heard him ask for 'a small lemonade, neat.'"

Mistress: "Be careful not to drop those china dishes."

Maid: "Don't worry, mam. If they fell on my feet it wouldn't hurt. They're so light."

When MacTavish said a five-cent cigar the American—an old friend—observed that he pocketed the money. "Why don't you rig it up?" he asked. "You'll forget it."

"Oh, I'll not forget it," replied the Scot. "The kua I keep truck in mah head and I'll get a dollar and then I'll rig it up. It saves the wear and tear on the machine."

Two old Scotsmen sat by the road side, puffing solemnly at their pipes. "There's no much pleasure in smoking," said Sandy.

"How do ye make that out?" questioned Donald.

"Well, if ye're smokin' yer ain't becomin' a thinkin' of the avyit expense, an' if ye're smokin' some other body's, ye're smokin' rammed an' tickit it win na draw."

The conductor was collecting the tickets of a lady and her son. The lady gave him a tall fare ticket and a half-fare ticket. "But," interposed the conductor, "that boy should have a full-fare ticket. Why he has on long pants!"

Lady: "Well, then, I'll take the half fare ticket."

Negro lady (listening intently from across the aisle): "If dat's de case, Mister Conductor, I don't need no ticket at all!"

The Galt reporter says: "Don't knock the town you live in. It may be the only town that has ever heard of you."

"When I was a little boy," sweetly piped the child, "I had a doll made of a set of wooden soldiers. One day I lost those soldiers, and I cried very much, but my mother said, 'Never mind, Johnny, some day you will get your wooden soldiers back,' and believe me, you bunch of wooden-headed dumbbells, that day has come."

Hector was practising with his bagpipes. One night while he was strutting about the room, skirling for all he was worth, his wife attempted a mild and very belated protest.

"That's an awfu' noise you're makin'!" she said.

Hector sat down and took off his boots, then got up and resumed his piping in his stockinged feet.

Frank Seales, barber, is much interested in aeroplanes.

Bill Winkless remarks: "It's at 'ome in the halp."

"What is your worst sin, my child?" "My vanity—I spend hours before my mirror admiring my beauty."

"That is not vanity. That is inspiration."

A farmer once wrote to the Bessano Mail asking: "What the Sam Hill is the matter with my chickens? Every morning I find one or two of them keeled over and cold as a brick."

To which the obliging editor replied: "There, dead, parson—they're dead."

Fred, Father-in-law: "How, would you like a cow for a wedding present?" Bride, just from the city: "Oh, a cow would give more milk than two would need. A calf would be about right."

Conductor: "How old is that boy?" Lady: "Four."

Conductor: "How old are you, sonny?"

Bonny: "Four."

Conductor: "Well, I'll let him ride free this time, but I know what he's gonna be when he grows up."

Lady: "What is he gonna be?" Conductor: "That's just as he will make Gene Giroux look like Tom Thumb."

Here is a story relating to a trade custom, from which many of us have suffered:

A doctor received a box of medicine from a city concern with a letter telling him to keep the ties and remit $1, or return ties.

Instead of following the instructions, the doctor sat down and sent the company a few pills, accompanied by a letter telling the receiver that they were recommended for "gall." The value of the pills, he said, was $2, and that he would give them credit for the pocket bill of $1, and all they would have to remit was the additional dollar.

In a few days he received an acknowledgment of the pills, which were returned, and was requested to return the ties.

The doctor then replied that it was five blocks to the post office and that he always charged $2.50 for request calls. So if the concern would send him the amount he would remit the ties.

ROYALTY GLAD THIS IS LEAP YEAR

LONDON—It looks like another leap year in the marriage mart of European royalty, and the fact that the ladies have the right to speak for themselves this season isn't going to make a big difference. There should be no enough men to go around.

Imagine the sad plight of the spinster princess—even one impetuous enough to take advantage of the time honored but usually embarrassing privileges of Leap Year. To whom, in her own social stratum, could she propose?

Edward, Prince of Wales, perhaps, and one or two other confirmed misogynists. Wales' brothers, Henry and George, probably will marry English girls just as did the Duke or York, so that ends down the list of eligibles considerably.

Too Many Princesses

All over Europe thrones have tumbled and some sort of democracy is flourishing as never before. But in the countries where they still have kings there is an unusual supply of pretty and marriageable royal girls. Just as due to the enormous loss of manpower in the late war, there is an excess of women over men, so, due to the changes in various states, there is an excess of princesses over marriageable princes.

Leading the list, perhaps, is the lovely Princess Giovanna of Italy, whose rumor has engaged to most of the men in Europe who even approach eligibility. Her latest fiancé was said to be the son of General Diaz, commander-in-chief of the Italian army. They were playmates from childhood, but no hints have been pronounced and are not likely to be. And Giovanna is the third, last and prettiest of the daughters of the King and Queen of Italy, a highly educated, sparkling, lively, dancing girl.

Beauty and Brains

Then there's Princess Maria, Jose of Belgium, who made her debut last year. She's got the good looks of her kingly father and the common sense of her wise mother. She's very English in her outlook, because she was brought up in her formative years entirely in English schools. At one time it was rumored she was to wed an Italian prince, but that was quickly and definitely denied.

Next in the list of important ones is 17-year-old Princess Beatrice of Spain. She, too, has had largely an English education because, her mother, the Queen of Spain, is an English princess. She is the royal tomboy of Europe and loses outdoor games above everything else.

A Nice Kid

And, of course, there is the little Rumanian beauty, Princess Henna, who had such a good time in America with her mother, Queen Marie. Gossip said she might be Princess of Wales. But that died when it became known that the prince had said:

So here they are—some of the prettiest girls in Europe, of royal pedigree and exceptional education. They're the best of their kind, full of pretty airs and graces, ready to adorn any court and live the hearts of any king. But there are no men. So Leap Year doesn't mean a thing.

WHAT ABOUT

WATERWAY PROPOSALS

The movement for the deepening of the St. Lawrence River and its electrification would seem to have entered the domain of practical politics and is likely to become a burning political issue. Uncle Sam has intimated in the plainest possible manner that, so far as he is concerned, "Barkis is willin'." Whether, or not, Canada is equally willing is yet to be made known. It certainly looks as if the Federal Government is fairly deeply committed to the proposal, although the final word has not been said and remains either with Parliament or the people.

On both questions involved in the issue, namely, the utilization of the water power now running to waste and if the necessity is real for such development, the deepening of the water ways, there should hardly be room for difference of opinion. Canada will be able to use all the electric power that can be developed from her great rivers as soon as it can be made available. We must look ahead and provide for our future needs in power. If, as yet seems doubtful, seagoing ships can find it profitable to make the head of the Lakes their ultimate inland destination, and this involves a worthwhile reduction in grain-raising rates, then the scheme would seem to be well-conceived.

It is the fact of our co-operation with the United States that creates the real difficulty. There should be no question whatever to working with our neighbors. They are good neighbors and have proved it many times. Our joint interests are so closely interwoven that, better or worse though not married, we must make up our minds to get along with each other. We seem to have done so fairly happily thus far. The chief hindrance lies in the uncertainty surrounding the United States Government's ability to satisfactorily implement its treaty obligations. The example of the Chicago water steel, which is sufficient description to identify what is meant, is to the point.
Undoubtedly there has a grievance against the City of Chicago because of that community's deliberate and defiant attitude in regard to the water it is illegally taking from the Great Lakes. But can Canada get redress, or a stoppage, of the steel through Washington channels? It can not. The United States Federal Government seems to be powerless to enforce its treaty obligations in this matter and, if so in this, how could it act any differently in regard to any joint scheme for the deepening of the St. Lawrence waterways and the electrification of the river? To raise these questions indicates the different problems facing Canadian shipmen in the new few years and also some of the questions that must be answered satisfactorily before Canada's consent is given to the waterway proposals.

There is much talk of Canada being prosperous today. It is doubtless true. The country's prosperity need not be questioned. Most of us are newly contented with our individual prosperity that with the country's.
This is a quite natural feeling, though possibly somewhat selfish. Possibly the best way to make and keep a long prosperity is to have each individual in the country prosperous.

It is not true national prosperity
when there are some unprosperous.
There is an individualism in regard to prosperity that is often overlooked.
Prosperity is largely a matter of personality. If one decides to be prosperous and refuses to be poor, he can be prosperous. It is harbouring the thought of poverty that keeps us poor.
W. Shakespeare said, "There is nothing evil but thinking makes it so", which may be applied to man's financial condition most aptly. Perhaps we might put it this way, there is nobody poor but thinking makes him poor. This sound like but poor consolation to the fellow who is hard up to the wife and mother making a desperate struggle to make both ends meet on the husband's low wages, or to the man or woman out of work.
Yet it is true that the very sense of poverty, the feeling of it, makes poverty worse. It induces a feeling of hopelessness, dums the eye and slows the step. If this be true, the converse must be true, that the consciousness of prosperity will invigori-ate and make one buoyant.

It may sound trite to say so, but it is very true that to think poverty is to experience poverty; to think prosperity is to assure prosperity. Let us get the thought of abundance in our minds, and remember that under the law of abundance there is plenty of everything in the world for every body;
more fruits of the earth than man kind can eat; more of everything than the human family requires. A consciousness of prosperity will attract to us our share of the abundance of life. We shall see that if there is no lack anywhere, there need be no lack in our case. Try thinking prosperity instead of thinking poverty and notice what a difference it will make in your condition and circumstances.

THE CANADIAN-BUILT CHRYSLER FOR CANADIANS

THE SAYINGS AND DOINGS OF MANY PUBLIC MEN

The Toronto Globe says Hon. R. B. Bennett is quite convinced, according to his statement in the House of Commons, that the country would be all right if he could exchange places with the Minister of Finance. The country is lamentably short-sighted, if his view is correct, for it declined to let him remain as Finance Minister.

C. P. Bowen, of Trochuville Farm, North, in the Rhinoceros Valley of Wales, and his family, who were brought to Canada by the Canadian National Railways, and are settling near Chatham, Ont. The father is aged 45, his wife 37, the five boys 17, 12, 10, 8 and 6, and the four girls 14, 12, 10 and 1 years. This family has come to Canada under the 2,000 Family Scheme. Before leaving Mr. Bowen said: "We do not expect a bed of roses but plenty of hard work, but we are well used to that and have no doubts concerning the success of our venture. I am going to Canada because I see in the Dominion a better opportunity for my boys and girls."

Nathan Straus: "Whatever the accidents of birth or the circumstances of religious belief, we are all brothers, and should help each other to the full extent of the opportunities that one kind of all mankind gives to each of us."

to make right or wrong dependent on geography or location. This applies directly to the case of representation in the House of Commons and the Senate of Canada, both bodies being possessed of similar functions and each having its own area of administration of the country's affairs.

Perhaps in the minds of the judges of the Supreme Court of Canada there was a feeling that the old boys of the Senate were not to be trusted in close association with members of the opposite sex, the "female of the species," as Kipling terms women. You never can tell what influence an attractive woman might wield over those susceptible old gentlemen, most of them in the "ere and yellow leaf" and, consequently, not well-fitted to protect themselves from woman's wiles. The norms of men must be protected at all costs, assuming that Senators have morals. Perhaps, on the other hand, the judges thought the ladies might not be safe in Senatorial company. This is a compliment to the Commons but a terrible reflection on the Senate.

President Coolidge: "In wisdom great, but in humility greater, in justice strong, but in compassion stronger, Lincoln became a leader of men by being a follower of 'the truth.'"

B. J. Headley: "Reliving the number of battleships does not redress the number of battleships lost, but reducing the number of battleships."

David Lloyd George: "The first to see is to be learned in political economy is that man does not live by bread alone."
